Bishop Corson To Speak at Exercises Honoring College's 79th Academic Year

The seventy-ninth academic year of Ursinus College will be celebrated at Founders' Day exercises in Bomberger Chapel at 2:30 p. m. Thursday. Bishop Fred Corson, D.D., L.L.D., resident bishop of the Methodist Church of Philadelphia, will speak on the subject "Our American Landmarks."

FOUNDERS' DAY SPEAKER

Bishop Fred P. Corson

Bishop Corson, an outstanding and nationally known leader in the Methodist Church, is the author of several books and was president of Dickinson College from 1934-44.

Dr. Norman E. McClure, president of the College, will give an introductory address on the history of Ursinus. Degrees will be awarded to graduates who completed their work this summer.

Founders' Day commemorates the signing of the charter for the College. It was originally observed in February, but in recent years has been changed to October. This year for the first time the entire senior class will march in the academic procession from Pfahler Hall of Science to attend the exercises in a body.

Other students desiring to be present at the activities must obtain tickets from the Dean's office. Juniors will do this on Monday; sophomores on Tuesday; and freshmen on Wednesday.

Recital Listed for October 28

On Thursday evening, October 28th, Karen Ranung, soprano, and John Klein, composer-accompanist, both of New York, will present an interesting program of songs ranging from early settings of Shakespearean texts to excerpts from modern opera, such as Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief." The faculty and the entire student body are invited to attend.

Weekly Staff Sees Numerous Changes

Dave Bahney '49, who was elected Weekly Business Manager for the year, has resigned and a number of other staff changes have taken place.

Ray Warner '49 will assume the duties of Business Manager, while Bernard Karasic '49 has been appointed Business Associate.

Jane McWilliams '49, prexy of WAA and Captain of the hockey team, has been named Women's Sports Assistant. She will assume the duties formerly handled by George Saurman '50, Assistant Sports Editor, who will devote more time to men's sports.

Kathleen McCullough '49, has been promoted to the feature staff. She will write alumni-society notes and other articles.

Ray MacQueen '50, Bob Gehman '50, and Frank Hanna '50 have been added to the Sports Staff.

Over thirty new candidates reported at the first Weekly meeting. Approximately half will be selected to join the various staffs.

This year, the college paper plans to have a banquet in late spring. At this time the new editor will probably assume his duties and awards will be made to the staff members who have been judged most deserving by the editorial staff.

Alterations Cause Campus New Look

The campus has undergone many changes in the past year. With a day student enrollment of approximately 300 and another 100 to 150 resident-student cars on campus, an acute traffic and parking problem developed. This summer, road contractors have been grading and constructing an extension of the parking area at the rear of the Library along the drive to the barn, and constructing another parking space between the location of the proposed women's dormitories and the Maintenance Building. This latter area will also serve as a parking space for spectators at the Women's Athletic Field.

A parking space at the new gymnasium has been surfaced. Some of the old drives were widened and most of them were re-surfaced, as were most of the walks on campus. A new bituminous concrete walk was laid from the Library to Sprinkle Hall, which has been transformed into a dispensary and infirmary.

The Library front steps were rebuilt last year, but no craftsman could then be found to rebuild the wrought iron railing for the steps. This summer that job was completed.

A new Women's Athletic Field has been under construction this summer at the extreme eastern section of the campus. This site was selected because of its proximity to the proposed women's dormitories and because it presented few problems in construction. The field is 320 by 200 feet. 3711 cubic yards of earth had to be moved and 2000 cubic yards hauled into the area for grading. The constant summer rains impeded the progress but the final grading and seeding were done by the end of September.

The new Maintenance Building is also adjacent to the eastern boundary of campus, next to the barn. This provides Mr. Godshall, the Supt. of Buildings and Grounds, with a garage for college equipment, a carpenter and metal shop, storage room, 680 cubic foot refrigerated storage room for the steward, and an office. This building was reconstructed from a building given to the college by the Federal Works Agency under the Veterans' Educational Program, as was the new gymnasium. The Maintenance Building is 80 by 60 feet, the exterior finished in green shingles. Construction was completed early this summer.

Haverford Trounces Bears 26-12 as Ted Test Scores Four Touchdowns, Kicks Extra Point

FIRST PERIOD GAIN

Don Young makes gain in early Bruin drive. Ted Yoder (29), Tom Fleming (28), and Hal Whitcomb (22) are pictured in background.

YODER AND STAUFFER NOTCH SIX-POINTERS FOR GRIZZLIES

A powerful Haverford football machine, operating from a single wing, completely outplayed the lighter Bruin team on Saturday in chalking up a 26-12 victory in its opening game at Haverford. The Fords, paced by 19 year old Ted Test, who scored 25 points, took a 6-0 lead midway in the first period, and added touchdowns in each of the other quarters.

Test, brilliant Germantown Friends graduate, was the whole show. In the first period, he climaxed a thirty-yard drive by going over from the five. His second tally came on a 10 yard romp, following a 52 yard sustained drive by the Fords. Touchdown number three resulted from a 15 yard jaunt, and late in the final quarter, the big sparkplug plunged from the two to end his field day.

The Bears, meanwhile, were being outcharged by the rangy Ford line, and had to rely solely upon deception to make any gain whatsoever. Two brilliantly executed plays, beginning with a lateral pass behind scrimmage, brought the Grizzlies their two touchdowns. Variations of the play were used over and over during the game, and while unsuccessful for the most part, proved to be the only means of gaining substantial yardage.

Harry Garrison set up the first score by booting 47 yards to Don Young, who was downed on his own five. Young kicked from the end zone on first down and Garrison returned to the Bruin 30. Four plays later, Test scored. Adam's placement try was wide.

CAMPUS BRIEFS

New Grounds Supervisor

Mr. Russell L. Remig, a graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute has succeeded Burton Bartholomew ex-'45, as Assistant Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

Mr. Bartholomew resigned the position last spring to become Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds at Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio.

A.V.C.

Veterans are reminded of the opening meeting of the local chapter of the American Veterans Committee to be held tonight at 6:30 in room 7 of Bomberger Hall.

Mr. G. Sieber Pancoast, Dean of Men, will speak on the current political situation. All veterans are invited to attend.

Hockey Manager Needed

Any Sophomore or Junior girl interested in becoming hockey manager for the 1949 season is requested to contact Barbara Bossert in Hobson Hall or Jane McWilliams in Maples Hall as soon as possible.

Juniors To Hold Doggie Roast

A doggie roast in the College Woods is being sponsored by the Junior class this Saturday night from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock. The affair is open to all students and their dates.

Pre-Legal Society

The Pre-Legal Society will hold its first organizational meeting of the year this Wednesday, October 13, at 12:30 p. m. in Room 4 of Bomberger.

All students, including Freshmen, who are interested in the legal profession are invited to attend this first, short, organizational meeting.

WARNER - HAINES IS CHOSEN TO PLAY FOR OLD TIMERS

The weekend of October 23, beginning with the traditional Old Timers' Day football game with Swarthmore, promises to be one of the fullest and most enjoyable on the Ursinus calendar.

In honor of the hundreds of returning sons and daughters of Ursinus, the Varsity Club has sponsored a dance to be held in the Thompson-Gay gymnasium on the night of the game. Until last year it was the Alumni who provided for this entertainment, but once more the Varsity Club is indorsing the affair. Warner-Haines orchestra has been selected to handle the music for the evening. His last appearance at the College was the Sophomore dance of a year ago.

This gala event, in addition to the gridiron clash between these deadly rivals, will round out an eventful weekend of activity, not only for the returning alumni, but for the entire student body.

Ruby Dedication

This year's "Ruby" will be dedicated to a humanitarian ideal rather than to an individual, it was decided at the "Ruby" staff meeting held Wednesday night.

This decision was reached due to the importance of the uncertainty and oppression in our post-war world. A general outline of work was presented by Editor Steve Arvanitis, and the business activities were discussed by Jack Brill and John Vance. The publication date of the "Ruby" has been set at May seventh.

Curtain Club

The Curtain Club will meet tomorrow night at Superhouse at 7 p.m. Those interested in joining are requested to arrive at 8 p. m.

Women's Senate

The Women's Senate, composed of an elected senator from each dormitory, met last Monday night, October 4, in room 8 of Bomberger. At this first meeting of the Senate, Marilyn Miller was elected secretary for this year. Dormitory errand duty for the freshman women was abolished.

Pre-Med

James M. Anders Pre-Medical Society will have a business organization meeting on Tuesday, October 12th at 12:30 in S-12. All members and prospective members who are Bio majors, Pre-Med, Pre-Dent, or Pre-Vet are especially invited to attend.

Debating Club

Dorothy-Arden Dean '49, president of the Debating Club, announced that the club would hold its first meeting of the school year Thursday at 4 p. m. in room

IRC NAMES REPRESENTATIVES FOR MID-ATLANTIC PARLEY

The executive committee of the IRC, at a meeting Wednesday noon, formulated plans to send four delegates to the International Relations Club Middle Atlantic Conference to be held November 19 through 21 at Pennsylvania State College.

"How Can Friendly Relations Be Established Between the United States and Russia?" will be the topic of the conference which will feature round table discussions, each led by a student speaker.

Members of the Ursinus IRC executive committee are Burt Landis '49, Mary Ewen '49, Dorothy-Arden Dean '49 and George Gazonas '51. J. Douglas Davis, Instructor of History, is advisor to the group.

The first meeting of the club will be held at 7 p. m., Oct. 19, in the Faculty room of the Library. All old members are urged to be present.

MacQueen Elected To Council Office

Added to the list of the newly-formed Men's Student Council officers is Ray MacQueen, who was recently elected vice-president. MacQueen, who is a member of the Junior class and plays a prominent part in its activities, is in Demas fraternity and is a Weekly sports writer.

At a meeting held in Bomberger Chapel on Wednesday, the new officers, Chad Alger '49 and MacQueen, introduced the Men's Student Council to the class of '52. Stressing the fact that the success of the organization depends largely on the support given it by the students, President Alger explained its policies and plans for the future.

Nominations for Freshman representatives were held and the following people were nominated: Bob Dressner, Jim McGuire, John Millbrook, Martin Brown, Alvin Buchanan, and Jack Smedley. Two men from this group will be elected to represent their group.

DR. MCCLURE GIVES ADDRESS AT OPENING CHAPEL SERVICE

Last Monday Dr. Norman E. McClure, College president, officially began another College year with his inaugural address in Bomberger Hall.

The chapel service began with the traditional singing of the hymn "Our God, Our Help in Ages Past."

For his text, Dr. McClure chose an excerpt from St. Paul's epistle to the Philippians, "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure." He urged the students to work hard and conscientiously, doing the assignments set for them even when they must seem unattractive. He also asked them to develop a sense of values and to be good citizens of the College community. He closed the address with the admonition to be cheerful, honest, courageous workers in a world full of darkness and confusion.

Rev. Charles Wallick, College chaplain dismissed the group with the benediction.

Editorial

Believe us, we apologize. This week's issue stinks. Our plans for the year call for six page issues as often as possible. In fact, if every issue doesn't include six pages of material everyone wants to read, the Weekly editors are failing in their job. Until Friday afternoon, we had every intention of printing another edition like the first, because the commendations received for that one were well worth the effort involved. But after trying our best to find someone willing to commit an axe murder (anything for news) we gave up in disgust. But don't lose hope. Leave us face it—there'll be more four page editions—with plenty of ads. There will be as few as possible, however, and if we can help it, the six page issues will not be crammed with material reprinted through the courtesy of "Joe College" magazine. Stay with us. We're trying.

Frosh Beat Sophs
In Battle of Brawn

by Sara Weirich '52

Those wierd creatures, Ursinus students who have been strolling around the campus with butterfly ties, red dinks, and flashy socks won for themselves renown and fame when they met the mighty Sophomores' challenge to match their might and brawn on Thursday night.

It all began when the Soph Rules Committee challenged the Freshmen fledglings to a tug of war. Fourteen Sophomores and fourteen Freshmen lined up for the struggle.

The team which won two out of three decisions would be considered the victor. If the Freshmen won, they could take off their customs for the next day. If, however, they were defeated, a pajama parade was in store for them.

Now the sides were ready; each team held fast to the gimp, and the tussle for the first decision began. The crowd scarcely believed their eyes. What was this trick of fate? Those stupid, weak, young Freshmen pulled the Sophs right over the line.

There was only one explanation—the defeat was part of the plan. The rulers would drag their charges with ease the next two times. Tense and strained the battlers resumed their stance. Would the Freshmen win and claim the fight or would the Sophs remain supreme?

The next one was a tussle. No one seemed to gain an inch as both sides held firm and sure. Then slowly the Freshmen began to move and surely the Sophomores followed. The tale was told, the Freshmen had won, and freed themselves from customs.

Turning from the scene of battle, the Sophs were suddenly humble. Their underclassmen, their Freshmen fledglings, had beaten them in battle.

Campus Daze

It was more than a little disgusting to watch about six sporty Sophomore men as they tried to agitate and break up several of the girls' Soph rules meetings. It is really disconcerting to discover that men in their sophomore year in college are still in that pre-adolescent stage of development when they must be annoying someone to be happy. Boys in grade school receive a definite feeling of superiority when they are able to break up the girls' game of jumping rope. But we were naive enough to believe that sophomores in college were big boys now!

Never let it be said that we are against Soph Rules because it is not so. The farther we get away from our Freshmen year, the more we enjoy them. But we must admit to an overpowering feeling of smug satisfaction on Thursday night when the Frosh overpowered the Sophomore supermen in the tug of war. It was really curiosity to see whether any of the Freshmen would even dare to stand up against the mighty Sophs that brought us out to watch that display of strength and endurance. Beside the mental jolt the upset gave us, the sophs' defeat did away with the possibility of a pajama parade this year. There's hardly anything left in life anymore.

By now the Freshmen women must be assured of their welcome here. After a week of customs, ugly hat contests, bubble-blowing contests topped only by individual dorm initiations, could any shadow of doubt lurk in their minds? Could they ever have misgivings about why they chose the friendly atmosphere of our own center of culture? Heaven forbid that this column ever be heard registering a complaint but—To us it seems a little silly to do away with announcements at meals because "people don't listen." It may have been our imagination, but it always seemed to us that somehow people learned about meetings and it wasn't via mental telepathy or carrier pigeon. To all of which someone will probably reply with a sneer in his voice "There are bulletin boards." And sneering right back at him we will say "What will they think of next?"

It is our policy to say at least one nice thing in this column. Our nice thing of the week is that freshmen and sophomores must go to chapel and we are upperclassmen!

Joe Bechtle Views University of Tulsa

by Frank M. Edwards '50

For our second article in the series concerning views of other colleges, Joe Bechtle '49 takes us on a tour through the University of Tulsa, Joe's educational hideout back in 1943. Though the university has grown considerably since the last time Joe was there, he feels that the experiences he encountered there are duplicated each succeeding year. Allowing for five years of minor changes, here is Joe's story of the U. of T.

Football dominates the spotlight at Tulsa and the oil magnates, who pour their resources into the University's treasury, demand a tough battle on fall Saturdays in Skelley Stadium. Consequently, these magnates make sure that the "eleven" keeps in good shape, and team members are given first priority on the three mens' dorms. Most of the 2000 students live in Tulsa anyway; hence the problem is not so bad as it sounds. The lack of dormitory space is not, moreover, a problem native to Tulsa alone. Besides, a room in a dorm, with fresh linens and maid service, cost (in '43) $20.00 a month, and who but the elite could afford such a luxury?

The jean-clad students at the U. of T. spend most of their idle hours in the Student Union, a building which houses a cafeteria, recreation center, a host of offices for the Student Government, and other student organizations. Joe says that those who doubt the quality of the cafeteria's food should just look at a Tulsa varsity man. And, if one pokes his head into the rec. hall, he is more likely to see shuffling dancers than shuffleboard.

Campus spirit at Tulsa runs on such a high plane that the faculty has long since taken a back seat in the administration of the multifarious extra-curricular activities. The seldom-used Disciplinary Committee is composed of a board of faculty-student members. The Student Government is the central coordinating committee for all of the school's activities. The encouragement given to these groups by the faculty is amazing. Tulsa students are proud of their weekly newspaper which is the latest thing in "freedom of speech."

Tulsa's campus has within its mile-square borders practically all the facilities for a well-rounded

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

or What's Bruin

Here we are back again and just loaded with news. In fact we've been loaded all week-end and we just got back.

There were plenty of old faces at the Haverford game. We caught a glimpse of that part-time fly boy Andy Bain with his better half, Joan Wilmot. Temple has not entirely stolen Barbara Mantz as she was seen with Bill Forsyth rooting for Ursinus. At the half Jean Heron was overheard still giving orders, but instead of the Freshmen women it was George Ruff on the receiving end — a Haverford man no less!!! Those flashes from the left hand of ex-Ursinus coed Jane Liversidge is her new engagement ring. The lucky man—Joe Bechtle.

Shades of 1920! The Fisher-Donahue mob were sporting straw skimmers at the 50 yard line. What happened to the bearskin coat?

What three man rooting section was heard "booming" it up for Ursinus? Every time their cannon went off, Coach Wieneke, thinking it was half time, would rush off the field and take a shower.

We are glad to see that Pat Dougherty got his opportunity to maul some Haverfordians.

In case the chapel organ booms into a chorus of "I Want to Get Married," it is only Lloyd Stowe enthusing over his little woman. He is the ring leader of the starry-eyed F.H.A. club (Future Husbands of America). The other two charter members are G. Ackermann and J. Baskin.

Home Ec. majors and wives to be, have you been wanting the savory recipe for Morrison's Miraculous Mystery Balls? Clip the item below, serve to hubby, and if he complains about your cooking, stone him to death with them.

1. Select three lbs. choice sawdust from the high jump pit.
2. Fold in one half lb. mixed green bows and dinks.
3. Pour in the squeezings from four bar rags.
4. Sprinkle liberally with dust from the volumes of Shakespeare in the library.
5. Slide mess into a Gooch crucible and warm thoroughly over a copy of Studs Lonigan.
6. Season to taste and serve piping cold.

Boys, have you been despairin' at the sad lookin' mess of feminine punkratude? Despite green ribbons and lack of make up, Phyllis Bauman has been able to corner the market on Ursinus males.

Dr. Wagner has so many avid students of biology that the poor earthworms won't know what hit them on lab days.

Congrats to Fred Tischler on the male addition to his family—a future Curtain Clubber, perhaps.

Short hair is the latest feature of the new look with Faith Taylor leading the parade of fashions.

Mr. Minnich slipped up somewhere in placing his student teachers. He has committed the unpardonable in separating Emmy Lou Mason and Roy Todd, and Mac and George for the 8 weeks of practice teaching.

Mr. Morrison's staff of white coats seem to be having a little difficulty in speeding up the freshmen at mealtime. Ten minutes is the maximum, kids!

WORLD SERIES CHATTER . . .

In last Wednesday's opening tussle, Bob Feller, the Van Meter, Iowa, strong boy, and Johnny Sain, Billy Southworth's meal ticket, hooked up in one of the tightest pitcher's duels in Series' history. Both Feller and Sain are rookies, as far as competition in the fall classic is concerned, a fact which makes their pitching feats assume an even more noteworthy hue. It was a heartbreaker for "Bullet Bob" to lose, as he yielded but two safeties and permitted only three walks. On the other hand, Sain, possessor of the best "hook" in baseball literally and figuratively wrapped the horsehide around the Injuns' necks, holding the Cleveland artillery to but four base-knocks, and admitting nary a batter to first base on a free ticket. It's extremely difficult to voice an opinion as to who chucked the better game, but all hands are agreed that it was one of the niftiest bits of twirling ever exhibited in a World Series.

We were quite glad to see a Boston-Cleveland series take place as neither club has had a pennant-winner in years. Billy Southworth, a shrewd old codger, who has a gift for piloting underdog outfits to riches, is, of course, a veteran of World Series competition. He took a team with very few big name stars (Bob Elliott and Sain might perhaps fall in that category), but with a bunch of hustling, scrapping guys like Ed Stanky and Earl Torgeson, and molded it into the National Loop's finest ball club. Lou Boudreau, a one-man club in himself, has been on the spot, so to speak, for years. Recognized by everyone as the greatest shortstop since the immortal Horns Wagner, the bow-legged wizard of yesteryear, Boudreau had never been acclaimed as a great manager till this season. This year he has shown fans, players, and club owners alike that he knows what it's all about by giving Cleveland its first junior loop title in twenty-eight summers, this despite one of Rapid Robert Feller's poorer years.

Both clubs boast excellent relief chuckers—Boston in the person of Nelson Potter and Cleveland in Russ Christopher, former Mack moundsman. Christopher and sepia-hued Satchel Paige have given Boudreau added strength in his bullpen corps during the 1948 flag chase. Potter, deemed unfit by sagacious Connie Mack for relief duty in the City of Brotherly Love, has provided Southworth with an A-1 fireman because of his ability to silence booming bats during a threatening rally.

Grizzlies To Tackle Dickinson Saturday

The Red Devils of Dickinson College move into Collegeville this Saturday to meet the Ursinus Grizzlies on Patterson field. The kickoff will be at 2:30.

It was back in 1894, Ursinus' first season on the gridiron, that coach, captain, and halfback Ed Lentz, led the first litter of Bear gridders against the Red and White clad Dickinson team and was soundly cuffed by 20-6. The series with the Devils has since been stretched into 28 games and Dickinson has proved itself superior with 14 victories against 9 for Ursinus, and 5 tied games. The last meeting between Ursinus and Dickinson on the field of friendly strife was in 1941 when the Redmen muzzled the Bears with a 20-7 defeat. Because of the war and the resulting poor traveling conditions, Dickinson has been absent from the Ursinus schedule until this season.

Without the services of Frankie Noonan, 47's brilliant backfield ace, who left with sheepskin in hand, the Red Devils, in early season tilts, slipped into a 13-12 victory over Thiel, battled Grove City to a 6-6 deadlock, and were defeated by F & M 12 to 6. Coach Ralph Ricker has fielded a veteran eleven, which has speed and experience. Operating from the always-hard-to-stop T formation, the Red Devil backfield, which averages only 165 lbs., is fast and shift.

Coach Wieneke's squad, with two games under its belt, is just slipping into high gear, and with the absence of costly injuries may be able to avenge their '41 defeat, in this the 29th contest with the team from Carlisle.

Mules To Be Foe Of Soccer Team

Rounding out almost two weeks of fervent practice, the Ursinus soccer squad is settling down to rough scrimmage in preparation for its coming opener against a powerful Muhlenberg aggregation this Saturday at Allentown.

With only six lettermen in shape to bear the brunt of the season, Dr. Baker will once more field a comparatively inexperienced team. However, the outlook for the year is far from gloomy. A high degree of spirit and enthusiasm has been evident throughout the preliminary practices and the squad has buckled down to the task at hand with a grim determination.

Jack Arthur has come forth with the excellent co-ordination and control of the ball which set him up last year as one of the highlights of the season's squad. Possessing the ability to use either foot—he will prove invaluable on both offense and defense.

Bill Meinhardt, who has been shifted to the backfield for defensive purposes, is also expected to prove an asset to the team along with John Peterson, whose consistent play rates him a probable starting position.

Offensively, Jack Arthur, Ken Fordham, and Jim Duncan are expected to form a scoring combination that will give the opposition no end of trouble.

HOCKEY CAPTAIN

Jane MacWilliams

MacWilliams Heads Coed Hockey Team

Jane MacWilliams, blonde Phys. Ed. senior, better known to her friends as "Mac," is Ursinus hockey team captain for this year. Mac started playing hockey at Cheltenham high and has been a member of the varsity hockey team in college since her freshman year. Last year she was tied for high-scorer for the season and was chosen as a member of the All-College second team for her all-round play.

Mac plays forward on the J.V. basketball team and serves as the manager of the softball team. Last year she was elected president of the Phys. Ed. club, and is this year officiating as president of the WAA. She is a member of the Curtain Club and Tau Sigma Gamma sorority.

At present Mac is practicing-teaching at Norristown High School.

HARRIERS ORGANIZE SQUAD

An informal cross-country squad similar to last year's is again being formed. Track coach Ray Gurynski will again be in charge, but Joe Shaw and Joe Smith will do the organizing. A meeting has been held to plan the training season. Equipment will be issued shortly.

The Middle Atlantic Championships will be held at Muhlenberg on Friday, November 12. All men students with any interest in running whatsoever, are urged to come out for the team.

Young To Receive Top Football Award

Dynamic Don Young, 145 pounds of real ball player, is to be accorded one of the highest honors a collegiate gridder can hope to attain on Monday, when he receives the Maxwell Award, symbolic of being the outstanding backfield performer in the district during the past week. Young will be honored at a luncheon to be held at Philadelphia's fashionable Warwick Hotel on October 11. He will share the spotlight with an outstanding lineman, similarly awarded for being the "lineman of the week" for the games played on Saturday, October 2.

The former Catasauqua, Pa., triple threat star, at present the spearhead of the Ursinus College attack, is to be given the award on the basis of his magnificent performance in the Bears' 19-7 triumph over Drexel. Young tallied one touchdown himself, passed for a second, and set up the final six-pointer with a devastating boot, burying Drexel in the shadow of their own goal posts.

The award is given weekly to two gridders, one back and one lineman, judged to be tops in Eastern collegiate pigskin circles during that particular week's games. Young is the first Bear footballer to receive the trophy since big Dean Steward, massive fullback, sparked Ursinus to a 10-6 victory over Temple one memorable autumn evening in 1943. The award is all the more significant when one considers that a small college gridder such as Young is competing against widely heralded stars from such nation-wide football powers as Penn, Villanova, and Temple. By his offensive prowess during the past two seasons, Don Young has established himself as a truly great and versatile performer.

The Inside on Intramurals

by George Saurman '50

With the echo of the World Series still ringing in our ears, sportsmen the nation over have settled back to view the prospects of the gridiron season which has already gotten off to a driving start with promises of upsets and thrills unprecedented in previous years.

But here at Ursinus there is more than mere speculation. The varsity already has two contests under its hip pads and is polishing up for the coming encounter with the visiting eleven from Dickinson.

In addition, this week will witness the inauguration of the year's interdorm pigskin season under the able guidance of Luther Wilt. This year, for the first time in many years, there will be a cup awarded to the winning dormitory. Plans are also being considered for the presentation of medals to individuals.

The only restrictions placed on those participating in the league is that they may not be a member of the College varsity team. Both Annex students and those living off-campus will be represented.

The number of teams which will comprise the league will depend upon the number of applicants. Players should sign as soon as possible with one of the following:

Derr—Bob Brown
Freeland—Mel Smithgall
Stine—Don Boyer
Curtis—Russ Binder
Annex—Robert Reichley
Brodbeck—Pete Tenewitz

'Y' Conducts Rally; Retreat To Be Held

Last Wednesday evening, at a program of fun and fellowship in Bomberger Chapel, the Freshmen and many old timers officially met the Ursinus College 'Y' and the cabinet for this year. Dick Knel-ler, master of ceremonies, intro-duced the leaders, among them Tom Kimes, YMCA president, who gave a preview of the "Y" program for this year. Of course, the '51ers were on hand with the entertain-ment, which included a new ar-rangement of Loch Lomond, and a clever imitation of a bashful quartet. After the students had fill-ed out blanks indicating their in-terests, the evening was concluded with refreshments and interesting discussions in the Day Study.

As a follow-up of the enthusiasm shown at the "Y" rally, commis-sion meetings will be held Wednes-day evening in Bomberger at 6:30 p. m. Here the students will have an opportunity for some action re-sulting from their many ideas. If any one has not yet expressed the desire to join a commission and would like to do so, he is still wel-come.

This weekend, Green Lane will be the setting for a retreat for the Y cabinet. Besides having two days of real camping, they expect to be revitalized for a better 'Y' year at Ursinus.

An opportunity for student wor-ship on Sunday evenings at the Vesper programs has been provided by the committee for this purpose.

Bears Lose 26-12

The Bears came roaring back af-ter the teams exchanged fields. Garrison kicked out on the Ursinus 43. Young pegged 13 yards to Stauff-er. Three line plays added a sec-ond first down, before Young toss-ed to Kajmo for a 23 yard gain. Then Young took a lateral and flipped to Kajmo. Almost downed on the 2, Kajmo wheeled to his left and lateraled to Yoder, who crossed from the two. Ehnott's poor kick kept the score at 6-6.

Haverford ended the first half scoring by marching 52 yards after taking Kajmo's kickoff. Test notched the six-pointer and the singleton.

An intercepted pass gave Haver-ford its third opportunity. The 'Fords capitalized by driving 62 yards in 9 plays.

The Bruins' final bid started from their own 31 and ended when Stauffer, on a reverse from Young, raced 18 yards unmolested.

The powerful Haverford squad never eased its relentless pounding. Gaping holes were opened for Test and other backs, while Wieneke's forces could gain only through the air. The Bruin air attack was formidable, but its pass defense left much to be desired. Still, with the possible exception of Swarth-more, the Bruins should outpass any team on the schedule—if they use the air as the chief weapon.

JUNIOR DOGGIE ROAST

College Woods — Saturday Night

Player of the Week

Ursinus ironman, Ron Landes, gets your writer's nod as player of the week from a Bear standpoint, as the Grizzlies bumped into a stonewall Haverford club and were bounced to defeat by a 26-12 score on Saturday. Landes, a standout defensive player ever since his in-augural performance on Patterson Field two years ago, is one of those dependable guys who always seems to be at the very bottom of those huge pileups when the two enemy lines clash. His performance on Saturday was one of the few bright spots of the tussle from an Ursinus point of view.

Ron's savage blocking and tack-ling held the Bruin forward wall together through most of the battle against the 'Fords, and was, in no small way, responsible for keeping the score close most of the time. Haverford exhibited a massive ar-ray of behemoths, who consistently outcharged the lighter Grizzlies, but Landes, Coach Kuhrt Wieneke's block of granite, more than held his own in the fierce line play.

The Bears were far from dismal against the Main Liners, although outmanned and outweighed. Don Young, welterweight sparkplug of Wieneke's backfield, along with swivel-hipped Don Stauffer, stood out offensively for the Grizzlies while Dick Reid and John Kajmo scintillated on the Bruin flanks. Ron Landes, however, was the out-standing Bear performer of the game because of his sterling de-fensive display of might from his well protected tackle position.
